Message from the President

Each year as I introduce myself to a new class of Pepperdine students I frequently invite them to sit with me and to tell me their story. I go on to promise that I will share mine with them if they have any interest. Of course, in this invitation I hope to know about their walk with Christ and his presence in the story of their young lives.

When I think about my early experiences in the church, I am sometimes transported to warm summer evenings in Kansas during a Gospel meeting awaiting the next pass across my portion of the audience by the newly installed oscillating fans. The building in my hometown was not air-conditioned and it was usually warm in the summer, but with the right preacher and an impassioned lesson it could get downright hot for a time. I sometimes yearn for more "heat" in our Gospel messages despite my appreciation for our climate-controlled lives.

The Pepperdine Bible Lectures are the modern-day equivalent of the Gospel meetings many of us remember from our youth. Then and now a need and theme are identified, talented and challenging speakers are secured, we each commit to our own attendance and invite our neighbors and friends to come and be with us and, throughout, Christ and the central Gospel story are proclaimed with confidence and conviction. The aim is to change hearts and to inspire new vigor in our relationship with the one featured in the "greatest story ever told."

So, friends and neighbors, welcome to our "73rd Annual Gospel Meeting." The theme this year is "Cruciformed: Living in Light of the Jesus Story." Hopefully, we won't be relying upon the oscillating fans of our youth, but it might get just a little warm as we grasp the powerful and loving story of Christ and his life, death, burial, and resurrection.

As with any Gospel meeting, every element depends upon you and your engagement. Plan to be transformed and, even cruciformed by your time with us this week. Sing a little louder. Pray a little harder, listen a little better, and go home strengthened for your own journey and the development of your own story.

MESSAGE FROM Mike Cope

What was she saying to this angry mob that was threatening to murder her and her family?

That's the question Dr. Robert Coles asked 6-year-old Ruby Bridges as she stopped and spoke in the midst of a crowd on the way to school.

After the courts announced in 1960 that the schools of New Orleans, Louisiana, had to integrate, every white family withdrew their child from William Frantz Elementary School, leaving Ruby to attend school alone for most of a year. Every day, heavily armed U.S. marshals escorted her through the murderous rants.

"I didn't say anything to them," Ruby replied.

Turns out she wasn't talking to the racist mob but to God. She was praying—every day as she went to school and later as she was leaving— "Please, dear God, forgive them because they don't know what they're doing."

In the midst of suffering and threats, Ruby—one of our guests for PBL 2016—was guided by the story of Jesus. She embodied the challenge of 1 Peter to follow in the steps of Jesus: "When they hurled their insults at him, he did not retaliate; when he suffered, he made no threats. Instead, he entrusted himself to him who judges justly"
(1 Peter 2:23).

We invite you to join us in Malibu, May 3-6, to reconsider the center of our faith: the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus. We will remember how this central event of history continues to guide our thinking and our actions. Our theme, "Cruciformed: Living in Light of the Jesus Story," is born of a conviction that the deepest need for the church is to recalibrate constantly by turning again to Jesus.

We look forward to having you join us on Pepperdine's beautiful campus as we rejuvenate our spirits, reconnect with friends, and reconsider the one who continues to amaze and guide us by his life, his teachings, his death, his resurrection, and his Spirit.

LIVING in LIGHT of

A Rare Opportunity to meet SPECIAL GUEST

Ruby Bridges

Associated Press

Some know our special guest Ruby Bridges from the iconic Norman Rockwell painting entitled The Problem We All Live With; others from the 1998 Disney movie Ruby Bridges: A Real American Hero; and still others from Dr. Robert Coles' children's book about her.

Born in the same year as the Supreme Court's Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka decision (1954), Bridges was enrolled in an all-white school in New Orleans, Louisiana, in 1960. When every other student in her class was withdrawn by their parents so they wouldn't have to attend with a black child, she was taught alone by a teacher from Boston, Massachusetts, Barbara Henry, whom she still describes as her best friend.

In the midst of racial hatred, she prayed constantly for those who threatened to harm her and her family—echoing the love and forgiveness she learned so deeply from her church. (For a longer account, see Mike Cope's message on page 2 or listen to the account by Coles, a child psychiatrist who volunteered to provide counseling to her that year on our website at pepperdine.edu/biblelectures.)

Through the years, Bridges has suffered many losses—including her home in New Orleans during the flood that followed Hurricane Katrina. But she remains a passionate advocate for the Christian love that moves beyond skin color.

Pepperdine is delighted to welcome Ruby Bridges to the 2016 Bible Lectures, where she will speak Wednesday evening at 8:45 PM in Firestone Fieldhouse.

The use of any recording devices, including, but not limited to, cell phones, video cameras, or digital recorders is not permitted during Ms. Bridges' speaking engagement.

INTRODUCING N. T. WRIGHT

by John Barton

Associate Director, Pepperdine Center for Faith and Learning

WHY IS AN ANGLICAN BISHOP DELIVERING A KEYNOTE ADDRESS AT THE PEPPERDINE BIBLE LECTURES?

Good question. It is true that this is unusual for a gathering specifically organized for our heritage churches. But it also makes good sense. In fact, it makes good sense specifically because of our heritage.

Professor Wright is one of the most influential biblical scholars of our era. He is also a person of deep faith who wants to equip believers of all traditions for Kingdom living. For those reasons alone, we can consider it a privilege to interact with him.

But there is another reason that hits even closer to home for members of the Restoration Movement. When we're at our best, we are people who are always ready to read the Scriptures with new eyes and let them challenge traditions that have become entrenched. Our history began with that very impulse. Barton Stone, Alexander Campbell, and the other founders of the movement embodied that ideal. They studied (and debated) the Scriptures with vigor, and allowed the ancient words to interrogate the messages and practices of their day. They also made courageous and sometimes risky changes in their own lives, inviting others from different traditions to do the same. Of course, Campbell and Stone did that in the early 1800s. But what should that look like for us today?

It might look a whole lot like what Tom Wright is doing.

As much as any other biblical scholar, Wright invites people from all traditions to read the Scriptures anew, to reconsider their ancient contexts and messages, and to reimagine how the biblical message can be embodied in the 21st century. He's speaking our language and he's doing so very effectively.

In doing this, Wright also disrupts comfort zones. He challenges structures and ideas from the Restoration heritage, and interrogates some basic understandings of the Gospel that are entrenched in Protestant Evangelical circles today. He invites us all to reimagine biblical concepts like resurrection, justification, and heaven. He confronts our ME-centered obsessions with individual salvation and draws us back into Paul's gospel of cosmic reconciliation. He reminds us of the centrality of Jesus' life and ministry—not just his birth and death—for capturing the essence of the Kingdom. He helps us reimagine what cruciformity means. And those are only some of the challenges Wright presents in his many writings.

We must practice discernment, "testing the spirits to see whether they are from God." But when all is considered, maybe the more penetrating question is not why an Anglican bishop is delivering a keynote address. Maybe the more penetrating question is whether we still possess the courage of our Restoration predecessors to trust and reconsider the biblical witness and adjust accordingly, no matter how radical.

We know the answer to that question. We do still possess that courage. And we eagerly anticipate this opportunity to interact with this year's Pepperdine Bible Lectures scholar, Professor N. T. Wright.

Keith Lancaster is well-known as a singer, songwriter, and founder of The Acappella Company—a group devoted to Christian singing. In 1984 the first group he launched, Acappella, released their first album, written and produced by Lancaster, who also sang lead.

He currently leads worship several Sundays a year at the Park Plaza Church of Christ in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and travels the world leading his Praise and Harmony Workshops.

He will be leading worship at the main sessions on Thursday morning and evening; in addition, he'll teach a class on how to keep singing strong in local congregations.

CHILDREN'S MINISTRY SERIES

CRUCIFORMED STORIES

(Finding the Gospel in Fairy Tales)

Story plays a significant role in the faith formation of children. The Gospel message is hidden in plain sight all around us and can be used to help spiritually nurture children, when seen through the lens of God's Word.

Ryan Maloney, Abilene, Texas

Wednesday, 1:30–2:15 PM

WHERE ARE WE? HOW DID WE GET HERE? AND WHERE DO WE GO NOW?

(Questioning Contemporary Influences on Children's Ministry)

As churches invest more resources in children's ministry, it is critical that we engage in communal conversation and discernment about practices that align with beliefs of the faith community. In this session, participants will consider various contemporary cultural perspectives that often inform our practices with children in our churches and ask, "Do these practices match our theology?"

Suzetta Nutt and Dana Kenamer Pemberton, Abilene, Texas

Wednesday, 2:30–3:15 PM

CHILDREN AND A NOT SO PERFECT WORLD

(Doing Missions with Children)

Are you creating space for children to enter into the mission of God with you in your congregation? If not, you are losing out on a perfect opportunity to mentor children in faithfully responding to pain and suffering. We want to create a perfect world for children, but we must recognize that they live in a "not-so-perfect world," yet they are spiritually gifted and empowered by God to be Kingdom bearers.

Shannon Rains, Kingwood, Texas

Thursday, 1:30–2:15 PM

BAPTISM AND CHILDREN

(Finding Good Instincts and Practices)

In a movement committed to baptism, we see a fairly wide variety of ideas and practices when it comes to baptizing children. It's no surprise that the children, their parents, and the ministers who serve them have many questions. This session seeks to identify the key instincts that come from Scripture and fit the movement, laying a good foundation for the church's practices of preparing children for baptism.

Jeff Childers, Abilene, Texas

Thursday, 2:30–3:15 PM

A FAITH THAT WIGGLES

It's no secret that young people love to move. The Christian tradition, likewise, has a long history of incorporating movement into spiritual formation. Combining historical Christian spiritual formation activities with modern teaching strategies creates an environment that fosters movement in spiritual formation. Class presenters will share experiences they've created in their home church, exploring a variety of ways for faith to grow through "wiggling."

Connie Greenlee and Aaron Metcalf Beaverton, Oregon

Friday, 1:30–2:15 PM

ALONG THE WAY

(Welcoming Children into Intergenerational Faith Communities)

This class introduces the new book on children's ministry, Along the Way: Conversations About Children and Faith (ACU Press, 2015). This session focuses on welcoming children back into worship and other faith community gatherings.

The Boone Center for the Family at Pepperdine University is a training and resource center that promotes healthy relationship skills for lives of purpose, service, and leadership. Focusing on the relational and spiritual development of young adults and married couples, the Boone Center offers specialized education and programming to young adults, professionals, and communities of faith to strengthen their own relationships and impact the lives of those they serve.

For more information about the Boone Center for the Family, visit family.pepperdine.edu.

A VOICE IN THE WILDERNESS (THE CHURCH'S RESPONSE TO DOMESTIC VIOLENCE)

Dr. Thema Bryant-Davis, a minister and psychologist, will provide an overview of domestic violence including the definition, risk factors, effects, and dynamics. She will then share the biblical mandate for the church to respond and specific ways that church leaders can engage in ministry aimed at prevention and intervention. The voices of Christian survivors will be highlighted. A Christian model of trauma recovery counseling for survivors will be presented.

Bryant-Davis is an associate professor of psychology at Pepperdine University and minister to women at Walker Temple AME Church in Los Angeles. She is a past president of the Society for the Psychology of Women. She is author of Tweets for the Soul: When Life Falls Apart and editor of Surviving Sexual Violence.

Wednesday, 8:30–9:15 AM

EMOTIONAL ABUSE AND THE CHURCH (THE REAL STORY THROUGH THE EYES OF A CONTROLLING HUSBAND)

Dr. Ron Welch will provide an inside look at emotional abuse in marriages and how the church at times reinforces this type of behavior in marriage. Welch, a Denver Seminary professor and licensed clinical psychologist, will share his journey in overcoming his own controlling behavior in his marriage. Using personal story, clinical insights from his practice, and proven biblical principles of marriage, Welch will present his Transformational Marriage™ model of healing to help pastors who work with couples facing emotional abuse and control issues in marriage.

Welch serves as professor of counseling at Denver Seminary. He has worked in the field of clinical psychology for over 20 years. He is the author of the recent book The Controlling Husband—What Every Woman Needs to Know. He specializes in marital and family therapy, as well as individual men's issues.

Wednesday, 9:30–10:15 AM

RAISING KIDS IN THE 21ST CENTURY (SCREENS, YOUR CHILD'S BRAIN, AND THE SCIENCE OF EMOTIONAL SAFETY)

As parents, we're the coauthors of our children's life narrative. But the quality of their story depends so often on the coherency of our own. Addressing the major issues parents deal with in the 21st century, this workshop presents the Safe House model of parenting, and offers strategies for balancing the four walls of exploration, protection, grace, and truth over time with our kids and grandkids.

Dr. Joshua Straub is an author, speaker, family advocate and expert in child psychology. He is president and cofounder of the Connexion Group, a company designed to empower parents, spouses and families. He is the author of Safe House: How Emotional Safety Is the Key to Raising Kids Who Live, Love, and Lead Well.

Wednesday, 1:30–4:15 PM

PREPARE/ENRICH CERTIFICATION WORKSHOP (TRAINING FOR PREMARITAL COUNSELING)

Prepare/Enrich is one of the most widely used programs for premarital counseling. It is a customized couple assessment that identifies a couple's strength and growth areas. A trained facilitator helps the couple discuss and understand their results as they are taught proven relationship skills. This six-hour training includes certification and all the materials to get started using Prepare/Enrich in your community, as well as one complimentary online scoring credit. A spouse may share materials and attend the workshop at no additional charge.

Dr. Ed Gray is director of the Master of Arts in Counseling program at Harding School of Theology in Memphis, Tennessee. He has been a marriage counselor for over 40 years, a professor for 23 years, and a Prepare/Enrich Trainer for over 20 years. His most recent ministry publication is Leaders Who Last.

Thursday, 8 AM–4:15 PM (with a 10 AM–1 PM break)

Cost is $195 per person. Registration required at pepperdine.edu/biblelectures.

I WASN'T TRAINED FOR THIS! (STRATEGIES FOR MINISTERIAL COUNSELING)

Although ministry often involves counseling, many ministers (or others involved in various ministries) feel unprepared for this aspect of their role. This session will include practical strategies to use in ministerial counseling, including introducing skills and theories that can be applied in ministry and reminders and tips about when and how to make outside referrals.

Connie Horton is a licensed psychologist and serves at Pepperdine as an associate vice president for student life and senior director of counseling, health, and wellness.

Thursday, 8:30–9:15 AM

ENGAGING ADDICTION: WHAT TO DO (AND NOT TO DO) TO HELP A LOVED ONE

Most people have known someone in their family, friend network or congregation who has suffered from some type of addiction. The word "addiction" is used (and misused) often in our culture, but what does it really mean? This session will offer participants an opportunity to learn more about the common signs of substance and behavioral (e.g. gambling, sex, and Internet) addictions, what the science says about how to help those who are struggling, and how churches might assist in the healing process.

Robert Scholz is a licensed marriage and family therapist and a professional counselor who specializes in the assessment and treatment of adolescents, young adults, and families. He has also worked extensively with faith leaders in helping them navigate and respond to issues of abuse and addiction in their communities. He currently serves as the clinical director at Engage Treatment Programs.

Thursday, 9:30–10:15 AM

CONNECTING YOUNG ADULTS AND THE CHURCH (HOW TALKING ABOUT SEX AND RELATIONSHIPS BRINGS YOUNG ADULTS CLOSER TO GOD)

Ministry to young adults (ages 18-28) is a significant problem for many churches right now. Relationship IQ targets this unique life stage and gives the church a ministry tool to reach and disciple young adults and promote intergenerational relationships within the church family. You will learn how to use a powerful section of the rIQ material—how sex impacts the brain and relationships. This way of talking about sex is revolutionary to young adults and draws them closer to God, instead of pushing them further away.

Hannah Parmelee is the Relationship IQ director for Pepperdine's Boone Center for the Family. She is the author of the Relationship IQ Leader's Manual, trains church leaders how to connect with young adults, and teaches young adults healthy relationship skills. She has a MS from Fuller Theological Seminary.

Thursday, 1:30–4:15 PM

WHEN CHILDREN COME OUT (HELPING CHRISTIAN PARENTS NAVIGATE SEXUAL IDENTITY)

What are the unique experiences of Christian parents when a child comes out? We will discuss the two key tasks Christian parents face. By improving the parent-child relationship, we improve the single most important relationship for the well-being of a young person navigating sexual identity questions. Come learn how to help families in your church community navigate this family issue well.

Friday, 8:30–9:15 AM

HELPING CHURCHES NAVIGATING SEXUAL IDENTITY CONCERNS IN A CHANGING CULTURE

Do you want to learn how or if your church can walk with LGBT persons? In this session we discuss how the church can come alongside LGBT persons in a more meaningful and thoughtful way. This includes first understanding the conflict some people experience when sexual identity (as gay) and religious identity (as Christian) seem to collide. We will discuss principles for cultivating a faithful and supportive community.

Friday, 9:30–10:15 AM

Dr. Mark Yarhouse is the Hughes Endowed Chair and Professor of Psychology at Regent University, where he directs the Institute for the Study of Sexual Identity. He is the chair of the task force on LGBT issues for Division 36 (Psychology of Religion and Spirituality) of the American Psychological Association and was named Senior Fellow with the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities to conduct a study of students at Christian colleges navigating sexual identity concerns.

HELPING COUPLES STABILIZE QUICKLY (A WORKSHOP FOR MINISTERS, MARRIAGE MENTORS AND MARRIAGE AND FAMILY THERAPISTS)

As a minister, lay leader or professional therapist, it is often helpful to move couples to a stable place quickly so you can help them work through the issues in their marriage in a calm and peaceful manner. Learn to build love and trustworthiness in couples while giving them the opportunity to learn how to change destructive coping patterns and bring security to the marriage.

Sharon Hargrave is the executive director for the Boone Center for the Family at Pepperdine University. She is a licensed Marriage and Family Therapist in both California and Texas. She is also the founder of MarriageStrong at Fuller Seminary in Pasadena, California.

Dr. Terry Hargrave is a professor of marriage and family therapy at Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, California. He is nationally recognized for his pioneering work with intergenerational families. He has authored numerous professional articles and 11 books including 5 Days to a New Marriage with Shawn Stoeber.

WHAT WOULD GEORGE PEPPERDINE THINK?

Would George Pepperdine approve of what his college, now a nationally ranked university, has become? Though that question is often asked by a person who is convinced that he would not, I take the question seriously. What would George Pepperdine, who died in 1962, think about his college today and would he approve? More to the point of this publication, I wonder what he would think of the Pepperdine Bible Lectures.

George Pepperdine may have been guided by simple and strong Midwestern values; but he was a complex person whose ideas about the church were evolving. William S. Banowsky wrote in The Malibu Miracle, "George Pepperdine was rigidly reared, and devoutly churchd, to oppose Christian colleges as evil instruments of Satan. He continued to hold reservations about Christian colleges right up until the last hour when he finally bit the bullet and decided to found one."

Due to his strong non-institutional leanings, Mr. Pepperdine determined that his college, though Christian, would avoid being directly controlled by the church. The delicate relationship between church and college is powerfully present in Pepperdine's DNA, even today. So what does a Christian university, affiliated with Churches of Christ by choice, have to offer a church struggling to engage a broken world?

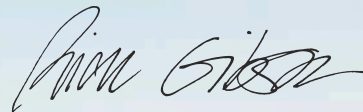

As the conversation around faith, science, politics, business, law, human behavior, communication, and education is reduced to polarized bickering, Pepperdine, the educational institution, has an opportunity to rise above the noise and to offer a civil discussion of all things. Positioned at the intersection of academics, faith, and culture, it has the perspective necessary to explore how these pieces fit together today. Most importantly, it has the eternal point of view to ask how Christ can speak into all of it.

Would George Pepperdine approve of Pepperdine today? Given the condition of the college when he died, he would be gratified to know that not only had it survived, but that it was thriving as a Christian university. He would be thrilled that the Pepperdine Bible Lectures are still encouraging thousands of Christians around the world.

I suspect that the scale of change the world has witnessed since 1962 would astonish George Pepperdine. However, I believe he would be pleased that Pepperdine University, a Christian university, exercises the freedom to thoughtfully engage a complex and changing world and to proclaim Christ as the answer to all things. Yes. I believe George would approve.

Our hope is that you will be blessed this week by the deep and layered conversation centered on the meaning of Jesus' life. May it richly bless you as you continue your journey.

AWP SCHOLAR BENJAMIN STOVALL

Ben is a senior psychology major with plans to be a physician assistant. Growing up at the Northside Church of Christ in Temple, Texas, he chose Pepperdine because he wanted to go to a Christian school with strong academics. On campus, Ben is a resident advisor, plays on the Ultimate Frisbee club team, and serves on the student health advisory board. He is actively involved with the University Church of Christ and Campus Ministry, and he especially enjoys singing on the praise team. He loves all outdoor activities, trying new foods, and reading books that challenge his ideas and beliefs.

Registration NOW OPEN at pepperdine.edu/biblelectures!

Now that you've pored over the PBL booklet and see all that the Pepperdine Bible Lectures has to offer, it's time to get your group together! Whether it's for a family reunion, gathering with a group of friends, or a ministerial staff retreat, it's time to start making plans.

WHAT TO EXPECT

Registration to attend the Pepperdine Bible Lectures is $20 for adults. The fee is waived for Pepperdine faculty/staff and for those who choose to stay on-campus.

There are morning and evening keynote speakers each day, with 17 break-out sessions to choose from five times a day. That makes for a wealth of knowledge and biblical education all in one event!

No sessions are repeated, but the majority are recorded for FREE download within 24 hours.

Breakfast, lunch, and dinner are available for purchase at various locations.

When you need a break from the bustling schedule, stroll through the Weisman Museum of Art, pick out a Pepperdine keepsake at the Campus Bookstore, take a few laps around the pool or the track, or take in the view from Alumni Park.

After the evening keynotes, wrap up your day with dessert and coffee from Associated Women for Pepperdine and enjoy an evening concert or inspirational dialogues.

Lecture Central is your source during the week for all information, questions, concerns, and lost items. Open 7 AM–10:30 PM. Located in BPC 191.

There is free parking throughout Pepperdine, with shuttles making stops every 12 minutes to get you around the steep slopes of campus.

The weather is typically mid-70s, reaching the low 50s in the evenings.

TYPICAL SCHEDULE (Wednesday–Friday)

6:00 AM	Breakfast
7:30 AM	Morning praise
8:30 AM	Morning session 1
9:30 AM	Morning session 2
10:30 AM	Morning keynote
11:30 AM	Lunch
1:30 PM	Afternoon session 1
2:30 PM	Afternoon session 2
3:30 PM	Afternoon session 3
4:30 PM	Dinner
6:30 PM	Evening praise
7:00 PM	Evening keynote
9:00 PM	Dessert, receptions, and programs

Note: Tuesday scheduling begins with the Welcome Reception at 4:30 PM, followed by the opening keynote by N. T. Wright.

HOUSING

There are four types of dormitory and apartment-style housing available on campus, ranging in price from $150 to $250 per bed (for the week).

Details and photos are available online at pepperdine.edu/biblelectures.

Children may sleep on the floor in their parents' room at no charge.

You may bring your own linens, pillows, and towels, or rent a set for the week at $40.

There is no air conditioning in the rooms. Breezes from the Pacific are usually sufficient.

RVs may reserve parking lot space for $75 per vehicle. There are no hookups available.

Check-in: Tuesday, Noon–9 PM

Check-out: Saturday, 6–10 AM

CHILDREN AND TEENS

Families are a special part of the Pepperdine Bible Lectures. We have activities for everyone!

Our Making Waves program for children, ages 6 months to 11 years, is available morning, afternoon, and evening for $25 for the week (all 10 sessions). Bible stories, games, crafts, and even naps for the little ones are a regular part of the program. Register online to reserve your child's spot and to complete the required medical information.

Teens are encouraged to participate in Pepperdine View, for ages 12–17, which has sessions each afternoon. Each day includes Bible lessons and activities, with an off-campus service project on Thursday, and a day at the beach on Friday. Register online for $20, and complete the required medical information.

Morning and evening keynotes in Firestone Fieldhouse are family-friendly, so feel free to bring your little ones. There are reserved rows of seating in the back for those families who need to make frequent exits, and there is a nursing mothers' room available near the lobby.

Other activities you and your family can do on campus during the week:

Take a swim in the pool

Kick a ball, toss a Frisbee, or feed the ducks at Alumni Park

Visit Burnett Heroes Garden at the top of campus

Tour the Weisman Museum of Art

Find a treasure in the Associated Women for Pepperdine boutique

DAILY SCHEDULE

When you check in, you will receive a detailed schedule for the week's sessions and events. You may also wish to download our mobile app for up-to-date scheduling, notification of changes, and other helpful information.

FOOD SERVICES

Waves Café is open for breakfast, lunch, and dinner each day, beginning Wednesday morning. Meals can be purchased individually at the door or you can register for a meal ticket online.

Breakfast and Lunch Ticket: $75 (early bird rate: $60 before March 1)
Children under 12: $45 (early bird rate: $30 before March 1)

Breakfast, Lunch, and Dinner Ticket: $125 (early bird rate: $114 before March 1)
Children under 12: $70 (early bird rate: $57 before March 1)

AIRPORT SHUTTLES

We recommend an airport shuttle service instead of a rental car due to the limited amount of parking available on campus.

Prime Time Shuttle	primetimeshuttle.com	800.RED.VANS
RoadRunner Shuttle	rrshuttle.com	800.247.7919

REFUND POLICY

Fees for housing and meals are nonrefundable after April 25, 2016.

Refunds for excursions and other programs are given up to 24 hours prior to that event.
